Ordinary Course of Business includes but not limited to a term for activities that are necessary, normal, and incidental to the business. These are common practices and customs of commercial transactions. The ordinary course of business covers the usual transactions, customs and practices related to the business.

The following factors are indicative of the transactions that may be covered into the ambit of the term 'ordinary course of business':

- i. The transaction is normal or otherwise unremarkable for the business.
- ii. The transaction is frequent/regular
- iii. The transaction is a source of income for the business
- iv. Transactions that are part of the standard industry practice, even though NPCI may not have done it in the past.

These are not exhaustive criterias and NBBL will have to assess each transaction considering its specific nature and circumstances.

h. Arm's length basis:

In terms of Section 188 of the Act, the expression 'arm's length transaction' means a transaction between two related parties that is conducted as if they were unrelated, so that there is no conflict of interest. A transaction with a related party will be considered to be on arm's length basis if the key terms, including pricing of the transaction, taken as a whole, are comparable with those of similar transactions if they would have been undertaken with unrelated parties.

Identification of Related Party

A Related party will be brought to the attention of the Management/ Functional teams and Board on regular basis by the Board Secretariat Department and the list of Related Party(ies) shall be updated and reviewed on a timely basis and would be communicated to the functional departments.

Each Director and Key Managerial Personnel is responsible for providing declaration to Board Secretariat Department about the related party involving him/her or his/her Relative or entities related thereto.

The functional departments shall submit to Finance and Accounts and the Board Secretariat Department, the details of proposed transactions (except those for which omnibus approval has been granted by the Board) with draft agreement or other supporting documents justifying that the transactions are on arm's length basis and prevailing market rate. Based on such information, Board Secretariat department will facilitate for necessary approvals from the Board of Directors, if necessary.

Approval of Related Party Transactions

a. Board of Directors

All the transactions which are identified as related party transactions should be approved by the Board of Directors before entering into such transaction. The Board of Directors shall consider all relevant factors while deliberating the related party transactions for its approval.

Any member of the Board who has any potential interest/ is interested in any related party transaction will recuse himself/herself and abstain from discussion and voting on the approval of the related party transaction. A related party transaction which is (i) not in the ordinary course of business, or (ii) not at arm's length price, would require approval of the Board of Directors and if it exceeds the threshold limits prescribed, approval of the shareholders would be required as prescribed under the Companies Act, 2013 and the rules made thereafter..

The Board of Directors may grant omnibus approval for related party transactions which are repetitive in nature and subject to certain criteria/conditions as required under and Companies (Meetings of Board and its Powers) Rules, 2014. Such omnibus approval shall be valid for a period of one financial year pertaining to the year in which such approval is granted.

The Board of Directors shall review and take note of, on a quarterly basis, the details of related party transactions entered into by NBBL pursuant to the omnibus approvals given.

Subject to the applicable laws, the Board of Directors shall have the power to ratify, revise or terminate the Related Party Transactions, which are not in accordance with this Policy i.e. which is not under the omnibus approval or otherwise pre-approved by it.

In case any related party transactions are referred to the Board for its approval due to the transaction being:

- (i) not in the ordinary course of business, or
- (ii) not at an arm's length price,

the Board will consider factors such as, nature of the transaction, material terms, the manner of determining the pricing and the business rationale for entering into such transaction. On such consideration, the Board may approve the transaction or may require such modifications to transaction terms as it deems appropriate under the circumstances.

Any Director who has any interest in any related party transaction will recuse himself/herself and abstain from discussion and voting on the approval of the related party transaction.

b. Shareholders

If a related party transaction is a material transaction that exceeds the thresholds provided under the aforesaid Act, it shall require shareholder's approval, as may be required and applicable.

A related party having conflict of interest in the transaction for which resolution being proposed, shall not vote on such resolution passed for approving related party transaction.

Related party transactions not approved under this policy

In the event NBBL becomes aware of a transaction with a related party that has not been approved in accordance with this Policy prior to its consummation, the matter shall be reviewed by the Board. The Board shall consider all of the relevant facts and circumstances regarding the related party transaction, and shall evaluate all options available to NBBL, including ratification, revision or termination of the related party transaction.

In case prior approval from the Board is not taken, such a transaction shall not be deemed to violate this Policy, or be invalid or unenforceable, so long as the transaction is brought to the Board as promptly as reasonably practical after it is entered into or after it becomes reasonably apparent that the transaction is covered by this policy.

In any case, where the Board determines not to ratify a related party transaction that has been commenced without approval, the Board, as appropriate, may direct additional actions including, but not limited to, discontinuation of the transaction or seeking the approval of the Shareholders, payment of compensation for the loss suffered by the related party, etc.

In connection with any review/approval of a related party transaction, the Board has authority to modify or waive any procedural requirements of this Policy.

Reporting of related party transactions/Disclosures

The particulars of the contract and arrangement along with the justification for entering into such contracts/arrangements with the Related Parties shall be made in the Board's Report which forms a part of the Company's Annual Report along with the justification for entering into such contract or arrangement.

This Policy shall also be uploaded on the website of the Company and a web link there to shall be provided in the Annual Report.
